THE GAZETTE.

MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 5.

[From the Literary Pasttime.] "Traducing Character." Speak well of thy neighbor, whoever he be, Asperse not his name when abroad, Remember, in absence, your victim, is he, And his name you can blast with a word. Attho' he be poor, like thyself, he's a man, And has impulses truthful and kind; Thy life, like to his on earth's but a span, And charity's eyesight is blind.

To err is but human—we all have our faults— There are none of us scathless on earth; A generous soul the frail one exalts, Bequeathing it station and worth; What matters condition, if truth be the test; Do riches make peace with your God? As a maxim the lowly are often the best,

Tho' mouldering under the sod. The beggar that's fainting, and asks you for bread, Has a claim on your bounty, believe; In humanity's name he asks to be fed, And the Christian that's true will relieve. if famishing nature commands your respect, Forget not thy duty elsewhere-

Before you condemn, take time and reflect-Credit not all the slanders you hear. There's judgment to come, when all will be heard,

Rich and poor no distinction will find. In your Maker alone is pardon secured, To be merciful—generous—kind Speak well of thy fellow whoever he be, Asperse not his name when abroad, Remember the ransom that Christ paid for thee, And judge not in presence of God! [RICHMOND, September 1868.]

STOVES, TINWARE, &c. THE GREAT DIAMOND HEATER.

This magnificent Stove stands in the same re-lation to other stoves as the precious jewel from which it derives its name does to other jewels. Profiting by past experience, we have thrown into it all the commendable qualities of the most popular Stoves, and have added inventions of our own, rendering it the Lest combination of philosophy and mechanics now in the market, and making it a perfect stove. By the arrangement the combustion of gasses is perfect, and greater efficiency is obtained to perform what we claim for it, with a great diminution in amount of fuel necessary. It is unequalled in every particular, in beauty, in workmanship, in durability, and as a home necessity is peerless. It is a self-feeder, and not likely to get out of order. We cornectly invite comparison of this. order. We carnestly invite comparison of this stove with others, and feel confident its great superiority will insure the preference. B. SEXTON'S BALTIMORE PARLOR HEATERS GAS BURNERS.

Our celebrated Patent Heaters for Anthracite and Bituminous coal, have given the utmost satisfaction to the thousands who have put them in their houses the past few years. They have as brilliant and cheerful appearance as an open grate fire, and are decidedly more economical and desirable. They have the greatest heating capacity of any fireplace Stoves in use—heating from two to four and five rooms with one fire. Considerable expense has been incurred. red recently in getting out our new patterns, and it is pronounced by all that for beauty of finish and tasteful ornamentation and construction, our new Stoves are unequalled, and they are the most powerful and pleasant of heaters. Fire may be kept up in them for months by adding coal every twelve hours.

The demand for and popularity of our Heaters is unabated. They can be obtained of
